Cuteville

INFO

This pretty locality features fascinating archaeological artifacts (long ago, ancient man was here first faced with the plight of Too Much Dirt) and a thriving sheep community. Cuteville is famed for its nightlife; you can follow a diorite walkway to the triangle strip club/mine, or take some shears to the sheep pen for extensive x-rated sheep-skin-tertainment Navigation: The entrance to the Mitchama Tunnel Complex lies just to the northwest; the Mitchama Canal starts to the southeast.

the nearby mitchama tunnel complex encompasses cassie's ravine, the first half of the mitchama railway, and the treacherous stairway to the ice farm farm. the name "mitchama" made a lot more sense vis-a-vis the canal the triangle mines were initially excavated by an ancient greek mathematician and philosopher, seeking to prove his theory that the world is constructed according to the golden-ore ratio; it was finished by me approximately 3 months later after i was initially scared off by zombie noises.

Russel Village

INFO

Named for the tragic raid that took the lives of many of the city's original inhabitants (Russel = RSL = Raid Shadow Legends), Russel Village is the go-to place for the best in pumpkin farming, gambling (i. e. trying your luck at the enchanting table), a library, and experimental architecture. The cursed mine entrance and the horsie pasture are both fenced in for your and the villagers' protection.

the cursed mine contains way too many poisonous spiders. fuck that place nearby scenic remy's ravine ratatouilles a series of deeper underground ravines. cassie came up with the names in this area

Navigation: The Mitchama Canal lands right smack in the middle of town; a whimsical lily pad trail leads to Vatican City in the northeast.

Vatican City

INFO

Though named holily because it has two churches, Vatican City is nonetheless a modern metropolis, featuring a sky-scraper and Pepsi products. Its conveniences include carrots, a short boardwalk that will hopefully one day resemble a dock, wheat, cows, and easy access to the lawless, mystery-filled savanna.

Navigation: The lily pads go between here and Russel Village; directly to the northeast, amidst the mountains, is another village called Rome; and beyond there lies unexplored territory.

the vatican ravine looms invertedly immediately to the east, but fun fact: journey north along the coastline and look for a stone cross (for thematic reasons) to find a watery counterpart, linked to it through many mysterious ley lines and, like, tunnels.
